Don't let those extra cucumbers in your garden go to waste. Many fine recipes are available for converting all sizes into various types of pickles and relish.

The fermentation process for making pickles has been used for several thousand years. It may have originated when a bitter olive fell into a brine lagoon, and someone discovered the resulting product was edible.

Plan to include a short row of small pickling cucumbers in your garden next year. The new hybrid gynoecious types such as Crusader and Picadilly produce high yields starting less than two months after they are planted.

Don't let the word gynoecious confuse you. It only means that all of the flowers are female, and each one will produce a fruit. Some male plants are mixed with the female hybrids to provide pollination and fruit set.

Most slicing cucumber varieties produce many more male than female flowers early in the season. Thus, the hybrid pickling cucumbers produce a heavy crop at the start, whereas the slicing types attain full production more gradually.

A new barley variety, to be known as Rapidan, has been released by the departments of agronomy, and plant pathology and physiology at Virginia Tech.

Rapidan was selected from a cross of Cebada Cape x Wong 2 x an awnletted selection from Hudson, the same cross from which Hanover was selected. Hanover and Rapidan are similar in several respects, but Rapidan has several advantages.

In 22 tests in Virginia from 1966 to 1969, Rapidan yielded an average of 78 bushels per acre compared to 75 bushels for Hanover. Rapidan is slightly shorter than Hanover, has a slightly lower weight per bushel, stands better and has better winter survival.

The new variety will be recommended for use throughout Virginia, but should not be grown in localities where Wong has not had good survival.

Rapidan has field resistance to powdery mildew, some tolerance to leaf rust, and resistance to the races of scald currently present in Virginia. It is susceptible to a race of scald present in North and South Carolina, but is not more susceptible to this disease than Hanover or Wong.

The new variety, like Hanover and Wong, is susceptible to net and spot blotch. These leaf diseases may become fairly severe on Rapidan under certain conditions and could be a factor in causing increased lodging. Both, however, may be reduced by crop rotation and seed treatment.

The scientists from the Research Division at Tech believe that Rapidan and Hanover will replace Wong throughout the Old Dominion. Both yield better and stand better than Wong.

Foundation seed of Rapidan will be made available to certified seed growers in the fall of 1970 through the Foundation Seedstocks Farm, Va. Crop Improvement Association at Amelia. Seed will not be available for general use until the fall of 1971.

There is a new bulletin for Home Gardeners on controlling insects -- Bulletin No. 392 entitled Virginia Insect Control for Home Gardens. In many instances it recommends the safest material rather than the most effective. Home gardeners should work with safer materials like Malathion or Sevin.

Appomattox, Va. 24522

Dear Sir:

We recently visited Appomattox as a climax to our vacation touring Gettysburg and Fredericksburg Battlefields and how we hated to leave! We enjoyed it all so much we want to do it all again when our baby daughter is older and can appreciate the history of it all.

Our guide (I wish we could remember his name) was courteous and so very well informed we felt we were there a hundred years ago. He certainly made our visit to Appomattox unforgettable. You are doing a wonderful job.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Bobby G. Bates

ASC Community Committee Slates Named

Candidates for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation community committee posts in Appomattox County have been announced by J. P. Alvis, Jr., Chairman of the County ASC Committee.

RESOLUTION

Regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Appomattox County was held at the Clerk's Office thereof, on Friday, August 14, 1970.

Present: Otho W. Martin, Jr., chairman, John C. Cole and O. H. Tolley.

The following resolution was unamiously adopted:

WHEREAS, Eugene Watson Carson, born in Appomattox County July 6, 1910, attended the county schools; during this time it was recognized by many that "Kit", as he is know to his many friends, was energetic, aggressive, and showed deep concern for his fellow man and because of his farm background and due to the great need for better methods of farming, Kit recognized these needs and did choose to continue his education at V.P.I.; and

WHEREAS, after completion of his education, Kit worked as a manger of a Creamery in Lynchburg, then with the Division of Markets, State Department of Agriculture; but his desire was to enter into the Extension Service where he could be in close contact with and better serve his fellow man; and in May, 1934 became the first assistant agent in Virginia to work full-time 4-H Club work in Appomattox, Campbell, Buckingham and Prince Edward counties; and in August 1934 transferred to Cumberland County as County Agent, serving there until 1940; at which time he was transferred to Franklin County as County Agent, and

WHEREAS, Eugene W. Carson did develop a great knowledge of the needs of Agriculture and being a good administrator he was appointed as District Agent of the East-Central District on October 16, 1947 and served in this capacity until his retirement on July 31, 1970 and

WHEREAS, during the entire tenure of office as District Agent of the East-Central District, of which Appomattox County is a part, Kit Carson did choose to locate the Central Office in Appomattox, from which was rendered to the citizens of Appomattox an outstanding service in the field of Agriculture and Home Economics; and

WHEREAS, Appomattox County in the retirement of Kit Carson has lost an efficient efficient servant to Agriculture and a man whose high character and upright life as an administrator, as a churchman and as a citizen has been and is an example to his fellow man.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Supervisors and the citizens of Appomattox County do hereby express unto Kit Carson their deep and abiding appreciation for the loyalty and service he rendered as District Agent for East-Central Virginia during the period of time from October 16, 1947 to July 31, 1970 and that they do extend to him their most sincere wishes for continued happiness and enjoyment during the following years and do trust that he will be richly and generously blessed as he enters these years of retirement,

AND FURTHER BE IT RESOLVED, That the Clerk of this Board do send a copy of this resolution unto E. W. Carson, that a copy be entered on the minutes of the records of this Board, and that a copy be sent to the Times-Virginian for publication.
